PATSHA BAY

Patsha Bay Mukuna (June 23rd 1979) is a DRC Congo-born singer and star of the biggest African (Kinshasa-set) film, Viva Riva! He was selected by director, Djo Tunda Wa Munga to play the physically-demanding role of a small-time Congolese gangster, Riva, despite Mukuna having no screen acting experience. The film opens with Riva returning home to Kinshasa, the capital of Congo, after a decade away – rolling in with a truckload of hijacked gasoline that’s worth a fortune, since Kinshasa is out of fuel – but closely pursued by his old Angolan gang that he stole the gas from. A few weeks after Viva Riva! Release, it dominated the 7th Annual African Movie Academy Awards in Nigeria – winning Best Picture. The movie also received the first MTV movie award as best foreign movie. After his role in Viva Riva, he worked with many Hollywood actors such as Tommy Lister (Friday, 5th Element, Dark Knight) and Malik Yoba (New York Undercover, Cop Land, Empire) in independent movies. He is currently working on his own movie projects Marco and Bella by taking the role of both director and leading actor. Watch for him to shock the movie industry as he’s being called “The One” by his fans worldwide.
